It is unwise, as a rule, to whisper to a newspaper editor your honest-to-goodness opinion of your wife, and if you write, so much the worse—for you.

Recently the Courier asked all the happily-married men in town to tell its readers what it was in their respective wives that coaxed them to other note and read it aloud:

For Acid Stomachs Use Magnesia

The almost universal use of magnesia by physicians and specialists in the treatment of stomach troubles, is due to the fact that it stops food fermentation and neutralizes the acidate disconsists and efficient, and the one prescribed by leading specialists is bisurated magnesia, a teaspoonful of which in a little warm water immediately after eating will instantly neutralize the acid, stop fermentation, and thus ensure painless normal digestion. Care should be taken to get bisurated magnesia, as its action is infinitely more effective. It is also, by the way, usually stocked by druggists in convenient compressed tablets as well as in the ordinary powder form. Stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of pepain, charcoal, soda mints, drugs and medicines are invariably astonished to find that the stomach, relieved of the irritating acid and gas, soon regains its normal tone, and can do its work alone camp, conducted on the general plan of the business men's camp at Plattsburg, be held in October at some central location under the auspices of the woman's section of the Navy League, as a practical object lesson in woman's interest and part in national preparedness.

A course in first aid, signaling, making of bandages and other war supplies, and even instruction in the use of small arms would be the work of the students at the camp.

An investigation into the probabilities of Mrs. Tucker's plan will be made by the woman's section of the Navy League. This feature of preparedness among women will doubtless be a part of the section's work next summer, even if it is not found practical now.

Mrs. Tucker and her mother, Mrs. John A. Logan, are both enthusiastic members of the woman's section of the Navy League and are serving on its national committee.

"Robert, I am ashamed of you," she blased at me. "What could have caused you to write such nonsense?"

"But, Myra—"

"Now don't attempt to palliate your offense. You, a newspaper reporter, to be guilty of such drivel!" Myra stopped suddenly, and gazed at me, speculatively. "Or, was it your real opinion of me?" she went on "Or—oh, yes, that's it—you were poking fun at me, and wanted the public to when you married me."

I wanted to edge in something. "I wanted to edge in something. "I wanted to edge in something. "I wanted to edge in something to say," she flared. "You've siready said it—here. So I had run-over shoes and twinkling toes, did I?" she demanded, her voice filled with scorn. "Wait!" I commanded, seeing another chance to get in a word. "Let me explain. There is another side to this—"

George W. Ray, Surety for Missing Woman, Expects

Asks for Surrender.

Special agents of the Department of Justice have searched for Mrs. Stout in Boise City, Idaho, where a former male acquaintance resided, but without success. Another special agent of the Department of Justice recently scoured Colonial Beach and Fredericksburg, Va., for the woman, but still without success. In deepair the District attorney's office has appealed to George W. Ray, Mrs. Stout's surety, for her surrender. Mr. Ray says he doesn't know where she is, but confidently believes she will turn up by October, when her appealed case will come before the courts.

But this is not soon enough for the District attorney's office. Consequently Mr. Ray has obtained a writ for the surrender of Mrs. Stout. He was very reticent yesterday and intimated that the District attorney's office had warned him not to talk about the matter.

He said that he personally was not looking for Mrs. Stout, and, in fact, he was not much concerned about her, but intimated indirectly that the District attorney's office was much concerned over its failure to locate her.
